Professional Statement

I am an educator and lifelong learner deeply engaged in international educational exchange, with extensive experience in intercultural communication across diverse cultural and academic contexts. I possess strong communication and teamwork skills, developed through years of cross-border teaching, collaboration, and academic engagement.
Beyond my professional work, I maintain a strong interest in fitness and physical training, which I view as an important component of personal discipline and well-being. I also value informal intercultural encounters in everyday life, where meaningful conversations often take place beyond formal educational settings.
